Reports/Interviews
Student reports will be going home later this week. Thanks for the return of interview appointments. We will look forward to discussing your children with you.

Home Reading
As part of homework, all students are asked to read every night to a parent. Below are some strategies that will help you. These are suggested in the Home Reading Record Book and from the Clever Classroom Website:
1. Make a regular time for Reading every day.
2. Make listening to Reading a special time.
3. Let your child know that you enjoy reading together.
4. Be seen as a reader.
5. Share the reading with your child.
6. Encourage your child to borrow from the local library as well. (A great idea for these school holidays).

The following article from the Barbara Bush Foundation has some interesting research.

DID YOU KNOW?
Reading aloud builds a strong vocabulary. Researchers have found that children’s books contain as many as 50% more rare words than the average prime time television show, and children are more likely to ask the definition of a word while being read to by a parent.
